The Experiencing God Member's Workbooks stand on their own without any clear need for a separate leaders book. This could be a confidence builder for an inexperienced leader but otherwise adds little to the member's workbook.

I have recommended to many, bought numerous additional ones for friends/fam. We started a bible study out of our home using this workbook & the leadership guide that you can buy to go w/ it. (for a home study, i dont' think that's needed though) I have read & done probably 80+ christian books/workbooks & I would say this is by far the best workbook out there... for beginners & elders alike.

This book is unlike any other book I have read. It forces you to look at your personal relationship with God. That was hard to work through, I admit, because of the pointed questions. Do you "go to church" or do you "experience" the presence of God in your life? There is a big difference between head knowledge and heart knowledge. I recommend it. It will challenge you in a way like never before.

This is a great study for those looking to her from God. But if you do this study please stay in step with what the author suggests in the leadership guide. This will be my third study and I look forward to it, the reason I am doing it again is I'm a pastor and am doing it with my church. You will not regret this study, but try to keep your group to 7-8. Highly recommend for those seeking God, Jesus Christ and an understanding of God's Holy Spirit.

Even though I'm not the leader of this Bible Study, this guide has been helpful to me for "extra" things that I might want to do that aren't possible because of the size of our group.

I have done a lot of studies over the years and this is the only one that I would recommend 100% of the time. Some studies do not leave a lasting impression. This is a 12 week study program that has you read five days a week. At the end you almost want to start over.

I've read enough in the book that goes with it (Experiencing God, Knowing and Doing the Will of God, by Richard and Henry Blackby, Claude King, Revised and expanded); to know that this leader's guide has to be fantastic!! I'm enjoying the book so very much that I'm buying copies for family members. I've read that, when Churches do this Bible study, that all kinds of wonderful things begin happening in their church. I'm praying for an opportunity to teach a Bible study with it myself. It's a really great tool to use to help to build God's kingdom. I just ordered this leaders guide a few minutes ago.

This book was used as a teaching tool for new members. It is an excelleny resource. One of the members is 67 years old and she could not believe that she has lived her life without knowing the basics about God, herself and relationships with others. She is praising God for her experience and is eager to continue to the next track of spiritual growth and development.
