Ocean is one of a book series that features four 3-D theaters throughout the book to introduce the various creatures. The theaters pop-out to four different levels creating depth to include at least ten different creatures per spread. In the Ocean book we start with the coral reef which includes lionfish, anemone fish (Nemo), Grouper and many others. Then on to the open ocean with sharks, cod, dolphin, jellyfish and more. Then, the most fascinating to me, the ocean's depths with angler fish, tubeworms, a black smoker, and some other really, really strange creatures. The last theater is the frozen ocean with seals, penguins, whales and other Antarctic dwellers. The book says it's for 3 years and up and my 4-year-old granddaughter enjoys studying the theaters looking for the "hidden" animals. Very nice book.

No "shipwreck and its fabulous treasure" as in description, but very well done and informative. Pop-up pictures: Coral reef, open ocean, ocean's depths and frozen ocean. Coral reef is very colorful, everything else - not so much. But the text sites are also very good with pictures and interesting facts. My 4 year old loves it.

Amazing book! My 4 year old still thanks me for getting this for him for his birthday. We have the rainforest one, and he asked for the ocean one for his birthday, and he was more excited to receive this book than the other toys! Vivid colors, and the pop-outs are wonderful. The only problem, not all the fish are labeled or discussed. The more we read it, we've found a couple fish, that a notable enough my 4 year old to point out and inquire about, but no where mentions what fish it is. Love that most of the fish on the pop out pages, have a little box with a "fun fact." My son knows more about the "Angler fish" than I do!

My 3 year old is completely fascinated with these books and we just got 3-D Ocean which we read several times a week. He loves to find the creatures in the 3D pop ups and now wants me to read the little bit of info given about them on the sides as well. He can recognize and name so many creatures because of these books. I love all the 3D Theater books. They are beautiful to look at and fascinating no matter what your age.

We have the entire 3-D Theater series of books and my son loves all of them, but this one is without a doubt his favorite in the series. I've been reading it to him for over a year now. We read it so much that the book is in tatters, which is my only complaint. These books fall apart fairly easily. Once the spine starts to go, the whole book starts to fall apart. I just added this one to my cart to buy as a replacement for the one that fell apart. Still worth 5 stars despite its construction.

Absolutely wonderful! Beautiful and colorful pictures of all sorts of animals of the ocean. Our kids enjoyed this so much and they have so many questions that we rarely have time to complete the book in one sitting. Excellent book!
