"An unmistakeable intimacy occurs when you're utterly exposed and still totally loved."This is the beauty of Two as One as a couples devotional. It is an accessible, Christ-centered couples devotional that centers on the gospel. Each day's reading draws you back to Jesus, which is exactly where we need to be drawn.

This Devotional is Beautiful! I am engaged to a beautiful women and we have been Ryan and Selena on Fierce Marriage for almost a year and they have set our souls on fire to love each other and love each other well. Other than their articles they write their inspirational images that they post all over social media lift our spirits daily. We are so excited that their devotionals to go along with them. We plan to go through this devotional before our wedding to be best prepared. It is so important to us that Christ be the center of our Marriage and this devotional will help. We are so excited to see this work in our relationship with each other and God. If anyone is struggling to share the Gospel together with your significant other this is the perfect Devotional to do together!

I am always on the hunt for great marriage building resources and I am so happy that I found Fierce Marriage and this beautiful book! This is a 30 day devotional experience that I am super excited about. One of the great things I appreciate is that is only a 30 day commitment. Most couples devo books are so long, you are bored before you finish them. Also, the layout of the devos with the awesome graphics is perfect and inspiring. Even though the size of this book is clearly shown in one of the photos, I was pleasantly surprised that the book was a little bigger than I expected. Thank you for a great resource and I look forward to other resources that you make available.

I was hoping this book would be useful for having devotions with my wife - Instead I got a book that is 75% useless. Each of the 30 'lessons' contain 4 pages: 1 page with a B/W photo, 1 page of devotional material, and 2 mostly blank pages that contain discussion questions where you can journal your thoughts (Look at the attached photos for a sample chapter). I did not buy this book so I could be the author. At the end of the book, there are some more lo-res black and white photos that you are encouraged to cut out of the book and "prop them on a shelf or ledge" or "hang several on a string by attaching a mini spring clothespins". Frankly, I would be a bit embarrassed to publish this book as a devotional for couples and then give them less than 1 page in 4 of actual material for them to read. A Christian couple would be much better served just taking 10 minutes and reading a few scriptures and praying together. Don't get me wrong - I have appreciated the "Fierce Marriage" website and many of their articles and ideas, but if you are looking for a substantive book to revive your devotional life - look elsewhere. You will be greatly disappointed with this book.

Nice devotional with some good reminders that are Christ-centered. However, they seem too short and don't go into much depth, even for a devotional. This is probably more suited to newlyweds and/or couples who are having marital troubles and communication issues. These will get a conversation started, many mature marriages might find them lacking.

Ryan and Selena Frederick are inspirational role models for what marriage should look like. I have been reading their Fierce Marriage blogs for years and appreciate their down-to-earth advice as Christian spouses and parents. They share the things that have been successful in making a marriage thrive without sounding preachy. I was thrilled to discover they had published a Couples' Devotional Book and it does not disappoint.

My husband loved the profound thoughts they brought to everyday problems we face as couples and how the Word was broken down in a way that relates to our marriage! Never thought of the things they suggest for us to do for conflict resolution!

This book is a huge encouragement to us! We love reading the Fredrick's blog and now to have some in depth material to work through together each day we are thrilled to rise to the challenge and excited for all the great things that will come out of investing in our marriage!
